SOUTH-CAROLINA.

By the Honourable WILLIAM BULL, Eſquire, Lieutenant-Governor and Commander in Chief, in and over the ſaid Province,

A PROCLAMATION.

WHEREAS, I have received Information, on the Oaths of ſundry Perſons, that the Murrain, which ſome Years ago raged with great Mortality amongſt the Neat Cattle in this Province, has lately appeared, particularly among ſundry Cattle which were driven from Ranges ſituated between Broad and Saludy Rivers, and Long Canes, which have been brought to Charles Town; ſome whereof have been, and others remain, near the Quarter-Houſe, daily dying thereof. AND WHEREAS, it is of great Conſequence to the Inhabitants of this Province, to prevent as much as poſſible, the ſpreading of that deſtructive Diſtemper, by driving them from one Part of the Province to another; as well as to caution Perſons from purchaſing ſuch Cattle, which will not only be loſt by the Diſtemper, but propagate the Diſtemper to the ſound Cattle: I DO therefore, by the Advice of his Majeſty's Council, publiſh this Proclamation, TO GIVE NOTICE of the ſaid Murrain; and I DO caution all Poſſeſſors of ſuch infected Cattle, againſt driving their Cattle from the infected Range, as by ſuch driving, they will ſpread the Infection without Benefit to themſelves, to the great Damage of thoſe through whoſe Herds of Cattle they paſs, for which they will be anſwerable. AND I recommend that every Precaution and Meaſure, which Experience or Prudence ſhall dictate, may be taken to prevent the ſpreading this EVIL.

GIVEN under my Hand, and the Great Seal of the the ſaid Province, this Thirteenth Day of November, 1773, and in the Fourteenth Year of His Majeſty's Reign.

WILLIAM BULL.

Charles-Town, South-Carolina, November 2, 1773.

To the RICE Planters of Carolina and Georgia.

GENTLEMEN,

IN the South-Carolina and American General Gazette of the 29th ult. has appeared a Letter under the Signature of WILLIAM PRINCE, addreſſed to the Carolina Planters.

I ſhould be much wanting in Gratitude to the Planters of this Province in particular, whoſe Favours I have already experienced far beyond my moſt ſanguine Expectations, did I remain ſilent on this Occaſion.

From the perſonal Knowledge I have of Mr. PRINCE, I think it incumbent on me to declare his great Abilities in the Manufacture of Starch, more eſpecially in that made from Rice; and to give my Sentiments on a Matter of the greateſt Importance to the Rice Planters, which, from long Experience, attended with much Labour and great Expence, I flatter myſelf I am qualified to do.

Therefore I aſſert, that Rice Starch, if properly manufactured, far ſurpaſſes, in Beauty, any ever made from Wheat. Many Ladies who have uſed it, of my making, have declared, that it exceeds alſo as much in Strength as Colour.

That Rice Starch may be manufactured, not for Samples only, but in any Quantity, how great ſoever, can be made evident; it may appear very unaccountable, but no more ſo than true, for Twenty Hundred Pounds Weight can be made in leſs Time than Twenty Pounds only. This is ſufficient to prove the Practicability of the Manufacture; and I am very certain that, at this Time, Rice would be much cheaper to manufacture in England than Wheat.

I am ſurprized at what Mr. PRINCE calls a Combination in the Starch Trade. I rather ſuppoſe their omitting to uſe Rice, is for want of a proper Knowledge of the Proceſs, which in ſome Particulars is very different from that of Wheat.

However, Gentlemen, I am determined that a ſhort Time ſhall make you fully acquainted with this Matter, and hope, what I ſhall mention will not appear extravagant—or vain: If it ſhould be thought either, let the Obligations I am under to the Province plead for me.

It is my determined Reſolution to ſhip for London, as ſoon as poſſible, Five Caſks of rough Rice, with proper Inſtructions for making it into Starch, and alſo Samples of the Starch by me made from the ſame Grain. It will be conſigned to a very eminent Starch-maker, who I am confident will give it a candid Trial, and make me acquainted with his Sentiments without Reſerve: And thoſe Sentiments ſhall be made public here, as ſoon as they are received, by

Your much obliged,
And moſt devoted humble Servant,
ROBERT STRINGER.

6 WILLIAM BURROWS, Adminiſtrator.

Mr. TIMOTHY,

DURING the Stay of the Rev. Mr. Pierey in this Town, I conſtantly attended at his Evening Lectures, and was ſimple enough to believe, that I had received ſome Benefit from the many Diſcourſes he delivered, with ſo much ſeeming Earneſtneſs and Zeal; and, from a religious Principle, had determined on a total Reformation in my future Conduct; reſolving no longer to indulge myſelf in the preſent Extravagance of Dreſs, and other faſhionable and expenſive Follies, nor henceforth to give into the "vain and giddy Round of idle and empty Pleaſures," which, in Truth, had hitherto almoſt conſtantly engaged my Attention.

From the bad Opinion I began to entertain of the Play-Houſe, now building, and the Evils it might probably produce, I conſidered it as no other than the D——l's Synagogue—reſolved never to ſet Foot on the Inſide of it—and had actually adopted a Plan of Life, quite contrary to that, which I was ſo fooliſh as to think a more laudable Way of ſpending my Time and Money.

Having, from the Bounty of a deceaſed Aunt, a certain Sum allowed me for Maintenance (which I find ſufficient and ſomething to ſpare, after allowing every Thing needful and genteel) my Intention was, out of my Superfluities and future Savings, to lay up ſomewhat, for the Relief and Support of the Indigent and Diſtreſſed of my own Sex; from a falſe Notion I had, that ſome Returns of this Sort would be required at my Hands: But, Thanks to the Author of a Piece in your laſt Paper, ſigned ATTICUS, for ſetting me right in theſe my miſtaken Notions of Things.

On reading that elegant and maſterly Performance (which does ſo much Honour to your Paper) the whole Fabric I had been raiſing, immediately fell to the Ground, and all appeared to be mere Nonſenſe, Enthuſiaſm and Superſtition: But, having been ſince invited, with ſeveral others, to drink Tea with an Acquaintance, this Subject was brought on the Carpet, and I began to rail at the Preacher, with as much Bitterneſs as Atticus himſelf could have done, when, to my utter Aſtoniſhment, I found every Mouth in the Room opened upon me at once, without giving me Time to anſwer either—One inveighed ſtrongly againſt that Author, for baſely taking the Advantage of that good Man's Abſence, ſo to traduce and villify him.—Another ſaid, he was no better than he ſhould be, for uſing ſuch low and vulgar Expreſſions as, Bulcoot of Scandal, Coxcomb, Vagrant, &c. and that he deſerved the St—ks and P—l—y much more for his vile and profane Mimickry.—A third replied, that none but one poſſeſſed of an evil Spirit, would have undertaken, Baſil like, "with Words cloathed in Reaſon's Garb," to expoſe and ridicule ſo good a Man, for daring to appear more than luke-warm, in the Cauſe of Religion and Virtue—Others again reflected on the Printer, for his Readineſs in affording the Aſſiſtance of his Paper, under the Colour of "A modeſt Defence of the Decrees," to miſcall, not him only, but a whole Congregation, proſtituting the Preſs, to the mean Purpoſe of Scandal and Abuſe:—In ſhort, every one had ſomething to ſay; and, when I was about to quit the Room, leaving the Tea ſmoking on the Table, even the ſaucy Jade in Waiting, who had all along teſtified her Diſlike by ſour looks, not preſuming to ſpeak her Mind, was reſolved I ſhould not eſcape her Reſentment, and ſtumbling, as if by Accident, ſcalded my Foot, and gave me exquiſite Pain. On which I left the Houſe, to avoid the Torrent of Words that were poured out againſt us all three: And I verily believe, had either Atticus, or yourſelf been preſent, they were ſufficiently irritated, to have toſſed you in a Blanket, or to have given you ſome worſe Treatment than that I met with; but when they read this, and come ſeriouſly to think of theſe Matters, they will take Shame to themſelves, and acknowledge their Error, as I have done.—Shorteſt Prayers are the beſt.—

Nov. 18. 1773. Yours, &c. CLEOPATRA.

Will be EXHIBITED,

At Mr. PIKE's Long-Room (for the better Accommodation of the LADIES and GENTLEMEN)

A VARIETY of PERFORMANCES on the SLACK WIRE; also, a great Variety on the SLACK ROPE.

By the celebrated Mr. JOHNSTON,

Just arrived from England, well known there for his Abilities on the same.

He proposes to perform on MONDAY next, being the 22d Instant, and on FRIDAY following.

He balances, turns, and swings on the Slack Wire to Admiration.—He balances a French Horn on the Wire, and plays a Tune upon it at the same Time;—also a Small Sword on the Edge of a Wine Glass, with a Pewter Plate on the Hilt, and make it spin round like a Top.—He beats the Side Drum in full Swing on the Wire.—He balances a Straw on his Nose, and beats the Drum at the same Time on the Wire.—He will lay down on his Back upon the Wire, balance a Straw upon his Nose, and rise up with the same.—Also walks backward and forward on the Wire in full Swing.

Likewise balances his Hat upon his Nose, and dexterously catches the same on his Head upon the Wire.—He walks blindfolded on the Wire.—He balances a Pyramid of Glasses on his Knee upon the Wire.—He stands on the Ground and balances a Peacock's Feather on one Foot, tosses it to the other, and from thence to his Face, then to different Parts of his Body, and to his Face again.——Any Person that chuses, may blow a Peacock's Feather through a Cane, and he will catch the same in Balance upon his Face. With a great many others, to tedious to mention.

He exhibits on the slack Rope in a Manner so peculiar, that he has challenged any Person in Europe to exceed them.—— A Detail of his different Feats on the same, would be too long for an Advertisement.

TICKETS, one Dollar the Stage, and Twenty Shillings the Gallery, to be had at the Coffee-House, Mrs. Swallow's, Mr. Morelli's, and at the Place of Performance.

N. B. To prevent confusion at the Door, no Person can be admitted without a Ticket.

The INTRODUDTION of TEAS into AMERICA, immediately from the East-India Company's Ware-houses, so that the Duties imposed thereon by the British Parliament, may be paid in America (which in Fact it is by every one who purchases of the Importer from England) having raised an ALARM in the Colonies of New-England, New-York, and Pensylvania, —the following is one of the Pieces that have already been written and published upon that Occasion.——Others will be inserted in future Supplements to this Gazette.

LETTER. No. I.

To the COMMISSIONERS appointed by the EAST-INDIA COMPANY, for the SALE of TEA, in America.

GENTLEMEN,

YOUR appointment, which is notoriously designed to enforce the Act of 7th Geo. III. for raising a Revenue in America, justly claims the attention of every man, who wishes well to this country: And you need not be surprised to find the eyes of ALL now fixed on you; as on men, who have it in their power to ward off the most dangerous stroke that has ever been meditated against the Liberties of America.

You have before you the examples of many of your unhappy countrymen, I mean some of the STAMP-MASTERS: Examples, which, if properly attended to, may convince you, how foolish, how dangerous it is, to undertake to force the loathsome pills of slavery and oppression down the throats of a free, independent and determined people.—Your appointment is exactly similar to that of our late STAMP-MASTERS—They were commissioned to enforce one revenue act; you to execute another—The Stamp and Tea Laws were both designed to raise a revenue, and to establish parliamentary despotism in America.

There cannot therefore be any difference in your appointments; except in this, that their office as Stamp Men favoured strongly of the nature of Excise Officers; whilst you, in the execution of your duty, may retain some faint resemblance of the decent characters of Factors. But let no names deceive you:—Your characters as Stamp Masters and Tea Commissioners have a strong and near affinity.—They and you could boast, that you were our brethren; they and you owe at least SUPPORT, if not LIFE, to America; and what characterizes the two employments in the strongest manner, they and you were marked out, by the conspirators against our rights, to give the last, the finishing stroke to Freedom in this country.—Strange indeed! that Americans should be pitched upon to violate the privileges of Americans.

You cannot believe, that the Tea Act, with respect to its design and tendency, differs in one single point from the Stamp Act.—If there be any difference, the Tea Act is the more dangerous.—The Stamp Act was sensibly felt by all ranks of people; and was therefore opposed by all—But the Tea Act more insidious in its operation, required some pains to discover its malignity.—Under the First, no man could transfer his property; he could not even read a news paper, without seeing and feeling the detestable imposition; it was therefore too glaring to pass unnoticed and unopposed—But under the Tea Law, the duty being paid on importation, is afterwards laid on the article, and becomes so blended with the price of it, that although every man who purchases Tea, imported from Britain, must of course pay the duty; yet every man does not know it, and may therefore not object to it. It is in vain then to seek for any distinction between the two employments.—To Americans it must be a matter of indifference, by what stile or title you may think proper to demean yourselves; whether STAMP-MASTERS or TEA-COMMISSIONERS.—If you are appointed to enforce the revenue act in America, any titles you may assume to yourselves, in the execution of your office, will prove detestable and infamous.

If Parliament can of right tax us ten pounds for any purpose, they may of right tax us with ten thousand, and so on, without end.—And if we allow them a fair opportunity of pleading precedent by a successful execution of the tea act under your auspices, we may bid adieu to all that is dear and valuable amongst men.

Ireland has long groaned under the weight of parliamentary restrictions and impositions—She was once a rich and flourishing isle; but being charged beyond her abilities with the payment of excessive sums to worn-out panders and whores, she is now sinking beneath the infamous load; and must, ere long, die a martyr to the absolute controul of the Parliament of Great-Britain.

To this miserable situation America will in time be reduced, if you are determined and allowed to execute the scandalous office to which you are appointed. You are marked out as political bombardiers to demolish the structure of American Liberty: and much, very much depends on your conduct at this time. For be assured, resolute and successful as you may prove in the execution of your office, AMERICANS will not part with the PALLADIUM OF AMERICA without a hard STRUGGLE; a struggle which it is your duty, and the duty of every man, who wishes the prosperity of Great-Britain to prevent.

The perquisites of your office cannot prove such fascinating objects, as to tempt you to fly in the face of your country—What appointments at home or abroad can ever make up to you the loss of your brethren's affections? What appointments can atone to your children, for the cruel, most horrid, predicament to which you must subject them? You have given them a birthright in America; which you found a land of liberty and social enjoyment—Let them therefore peaceably and happily inherit it—You can have no prospect of subjugating America, that you or they may become sovereign Princes; if you have, your prospect indeed must be extensive; and in my opinion, productive of every mischief to them and you: Besides, if you mean to establish your children happily, they will derive more real satisfaction as PRIMI INTER PARES; to which their virtue may entitle them in a free country; than they can ever enjoy as TYRANTS over a band of slaves.—But such I trust cannot be your motives.—You have already filled some of the most important offices in the American state; you have hitherto acted on the broad and safe basis of disinterested virtue; by discharging many public duties without fee or reward: And you cannot now act so directly repugnant to your former virtuous actions; so contrary to the sentiments of your watchful countrymen, as to be induced by the paltry bribe of a petty commission, to rivet the shackles of slavery on your American brethren.

If the East-India Company can establish warehouses in America for the sale of TEA on which a duty is imposed for the purpose of raising a revenue in America, they may vend, in like manner, any other articles of their trade. On such other articles, Parliament may impose duty to be paid in America; and the Company's Commissioners will no doubt take special care to pay such duty, and reimburse their constituents, by fleecing it from the people.—Thus the imposition may be increased at pleasure, and America be subjugated without the possibility of redemption.

It has been alledged by some, that your friends in England, to whose special grace and favour you are intitled for the important commission, have given security, in very high sums for the faithful execution of the trust reposed in you; and that, therefore, you cannot, in honour or good conscience, leave your friends in the lurch; by neglecting or refusing to comply literally with the tenor of your commission. So much gentlemen, has been advanced in favour of your employment; let us now examine the force of it.

It cannot be meant that your friends in England have engaged that you shall execute the TEA ACT in America; this would be a rash engagement indeed: For it was well known in London what confusion your appointment would occasion in America: And no man would be so foolish as to set you up for Quixotes, and give security for your positive execution of any whimsical schemes the Ministry or the East India Company might chalk out for you: All the security given amounts to no more than this, that, if you should undertake and be permitted to enforce the REVENUE ACT in America, you would discharge faithfully all duties appertaining to your commission; the principal of which was, the regular accounting for and payment of such money as might arise from the sale of the dutied Article.

It is then evident, that you cannot injure your friends in England, by rejecting the hazardous employment to which you are nominated, but on the contrary, by so doing, you will testify your regard for the rights and privileges of your American brethren; and prove to the world that you are not such men as your friends in England presumed you were; men who, for the sake of a party emolument, would impiously sheath the dagger of oppression in the bowels of your country.

The claim of Parliament to tax America has been too well examined, for you to doubt, at this time, to which side right and justice have given the palm.—Do not, therefore, hesitate at the course you ought to pursue.——If you deliberate, you are lost,—lost to virtue, lost to your country. It is in vain to expect that AMERICANS can give a sanction to your office. FREEMEN,—AMERICAN FREEMEN can never approve it You are abundantly capable to judge for yourselves: And I sincerely wish that your conduct, on the present alarming occasion, may be such as will promote your future peace and welfare; answer, fully answer the anxious expectations of your brethren, who sincerely believe it is in your power to save them much trouble: And lastly, that your conduct may be such as will secure your native country from the deadly stroke now aimed in your persons against her.—If you refuse, no one else will dare to execute the diabolical Commission.

SCÆVOLA.
